

One of FMTA's long standing claims is that it gets 600 visitors a day on its web site. below is their actual statistics package, which happened to be left open and unencrypted. So, somebody happened on it. (Good work, eh?)

They have been getting 65 and 85 visitors a day, which is puny. We also know that most of their visits are referrals from the city web site.

They were required in 1999 by the city to have a web site. They were paid a measly $15 000 to do this. They only got their site up in September of 2000. By August of 2001 they were getting 14 visitors a day.
