

La Guerra Continua

May 11, 2012

Interesting things have been happening in the war against Toronto Tenant Pimps. More nastiness has been flying at me. They have spun recent developments as good news for them, but it could be understood as good news for we who will not abide them.

I never expected that mayor Ford had any magic wand to make them go away. The Ford administration in fact has some serious drawbacks. First of all, it is difficult for people with an essentially left-progressive point of view to have to think pragmatically and try to work with a very reactionary government.

That is a little easier when you realize that the "left" in city council is mainly the phony left, the NDP. One thing I have learned is that there is very little populist left in Toronto, as is still found in the western provinces. What you have here is the authoritarian left; the paternalists, the social agency apparatchiks.

No wonder these people think FMTA is so great. FMTA controls the tenants and delivers their support to left councillors, or so they think. In reality, FMTA can barely get a crowd of tenants out to their meetings if they gave out free ice cream in July. They are good at recruiting mentally disturbed people to be used to threaten and harass people, and then discarded.

The Ford people I have talked to seem a little dispirited about their failure to prevent FMTA from getting funded again. I am surprised at how naive they were about how entrenched the scumbags are. But now at least they realize how hard the task will be and are more prepared to listen to people who have been fighting FMTA for awhile and can say something about it.

City government in Toronto has been getting ever more secretive, so it is hard to reconstruct exactly how this fight played out. I have not had time to follow it closely and missed some things. But apparently the FMTA's funding this year came through the bid committee, which apparently means it does not have to go to the full council.

They claim they got everything they had been getting before; about half a million a year. Actually, it seems they got $377,000 for the year with an option to renew for two more years. As well, they have some conditions on them which are very interesting. The contract allows the city to get out of it on 30 days notice. They have been told that any "political involvement" will be cause for pulling the contract.

That would put a serious hitch into these people. They are as political as you can get. The question is, who is supervising the conditions? Is it their protectors at Shelter, Support, Housing, or people in the mayor's office? Do they have to start filing financial and performance reports again?

I got the following reply from a city staffer;

The agreement calls for quarterly payments upon invoicing and there are numerous reports and records required to be submitted including 4 progress reports for both the tenant hot line and the tenant assistance service containing performance indicators outlined by the City and a final report that describes both full year results and provides an analysis of the applications to the LTB and the strategies and programs undertaken. In addition we require a copy of the audited financial statement and any management letters issued by the auditor. I trust that this is the information that you were seeking.

Well, that is some of the information I am seeking but more would be funner. What are the performance indicators required by the city? Also, it is very hard to find out who is on the bid committee. I think I am going to have to attend one of these bid committee meetings as part of an information search.

All this explains why FMTA is laying very low right now. Their web site has not been updated for awhile. Their message board is silent. Nothing doing on their twitter and Facebook.

However, they still venture to make threatening messages to me. This has increased lately, I believe due to their desperation.

I think these conditions they have been given are a very powerful weapon to shut them down for good. I am quite sure they will not be able to pass an audit. They will have to depend on their friends on city council to shield them from this, like in the old days before Miller. Back then, they found NDP affiliated organizations to do a funny audit for them. I don't think they were real chartered accountants. After Miller, they did not even bother.

Below now are the most recent relevant documents.

page (3) From this Edward Main pseudonym. They have been threatening my housing again, as well as slandering Levitt. This will all be very useful when it is time for prosecutions.

page (4) They threaten to get me delisted by google again. Ho, hum. What is more amusing is MacIntyre insisting he is not retired and is working as a paralegal. You definitely do not want to hire him of your legal problems. He got some stooge in Ontario Legal to certify him as a paralegal without any examination. He has never done any legal work in his life. Neither FMTA or the Ottawa group ever went to court for people.

As for his pension, you can be sure he got a lot of money for his time at FMTA. If he wants to disprove what I am saying, he can show an honest account of the FMTA finances during these ten years. That is never going to happen.

page (5) Another threatening and infantile letter from "Edward Main". If these scum were defunded, they would all have to find real jobs or go on welfare.

page (6) Another "Sarah Lu." Now they are threatening to come to my door again. They already sent Andy Lehrer around once. I would love them to do it a couple of more times.

page (7) Here they are bragging about how they are getting money out of some well meaning but naive community activist to teach a "school". This is on top of the money they are getting from the city to supposedly provide such services for free.

page (8) Here is the abstract of the article they are mentioning.

page (10) The monetary terms of their contract with the city

page (11) The other party bidding for the contract was, I understand, a law firm with experience in tenant law. It is questionable that the city needs a hotline, because the provincial Landlord and Tenant Board runs one as well. It is much improved from Harris times and is run by people who are up to speed on current law because they actually work for the board. The FMTA phone people never go near the L&T board. They are utterly unqualified to give advice.

Thanks for that great page on Levitt. We have a councillor who is distributing it to everybody at city hall so nobody makes the mistake of being associated that psychopath.

Now that we know he does want to sell the websight we have spoken to the few companies who would want to buy it to let them know he is completely desperate to sell it so he won't get much for it. We even volunteered to help write for the site for free to all the potential buyers and they all loved the idea of a major organization being behind them. I am sure that bastard will love it when he gets nothing for it and we are the new editors!

Since you have made it clear you aren't going to take down the lies you have posted about us how about putting up a page about Levitt on your causepimps site? Do that and you can keep your tchc housing otherwise you might want to look for unsubsidised housing.

The Levitt page needs to have his picture, his date of birth and everything you know about him. We are very interested in knowing anything about his family and history. Post that and you are home free.

Subject: false information

You have recently (just this week) published false information about me on your web site.

Here are some facts for you to correct your publication:

1. I am not retired. I am an active paralegal.
2. I still live in Toronto.
3. I received ZERO pension from my work with FMTA or any one else. When I get to 65 in 3 years, I will start collecting Canada Pension.
4. I am a market rent paying tenant with TCHC. As you should know, TCHC has a mix of market and RGI units. If there ever was a policy shift to 100% RGI, I would move out. Meanwhile, I pay full rent and applied just like everybody else for a vacant unit.
5. You misrepresent my time in Ottawa where I worked for tenants for 17 years, mostly with the Ottawa Tenants federation. In April of 1998, the Board of Directors decided to fold the organization due to lack of funds and due to our assessment of how effective we could be in the climate of the times. As the sole remaining employee, I was given an old computer, a broken fax machine, an old telephone, and about 5 legal texts and a final pay cheque. It would take a vivid imagination to concoct the spin you put on it.
6. Yes, I support greater services and advocacy for tenants, and have proposed funding models that would accomplish that. Landlords have a multi million dollar lobby funded through tenant's rents.
7. I left FMTA in 2010. I had differences with some of the people there and frankly I have been critical of the FMTA since departing - although not for the nonsense you espouse. I believe that tenants need strong active organizations and you will never find perfect people to lead them, but we do the best we can.

There are many other falsehoods in your publication, but I need not waste my time with them. Please correct or delete your publication, as above.

You lost. We got all the money without a cut this year. Even Mayor Fraud realized he can't oppose the 1,000,000 tenants of Toronto.

Post media is after you and next is Quebecor for all those Toronto Scum articles you posted.

I wonder how much longer before you are permanently kicked out of TCHC. It should be soon and you will have to find another city to terrorize.

Cullinane lives on Dawes Road and has been involved with the Dawes Road Community Network since its inception early last year. The group was initiated by Action for Neighbourhood Change (ANC) as a way to get residents involved in the community and talking about what's important to them; the Barrington Eastdale Lumsden Secord group formed in late 2010 and there are plans for a Crescent Town residents' group as well.

Tammy Clarke is the convenor for the local ANC.

"ANC is here to support these residents - to have their voices heard," she said. "My function is connecting them to other organizations and services."

Cullinane is using her voice to help other tenants. She submitted a proposal for a community grant to hold a tenant school.

She had the idea after going to a tenant right's workshop hosted by the Federation of Metro Tenants Association (FMTA).

"It gave me the information I was looking for," she said. "I know the difference it's made in my life so I know we can (multiply) what's happened with me with that school by 30 and see that there will be changes made."
